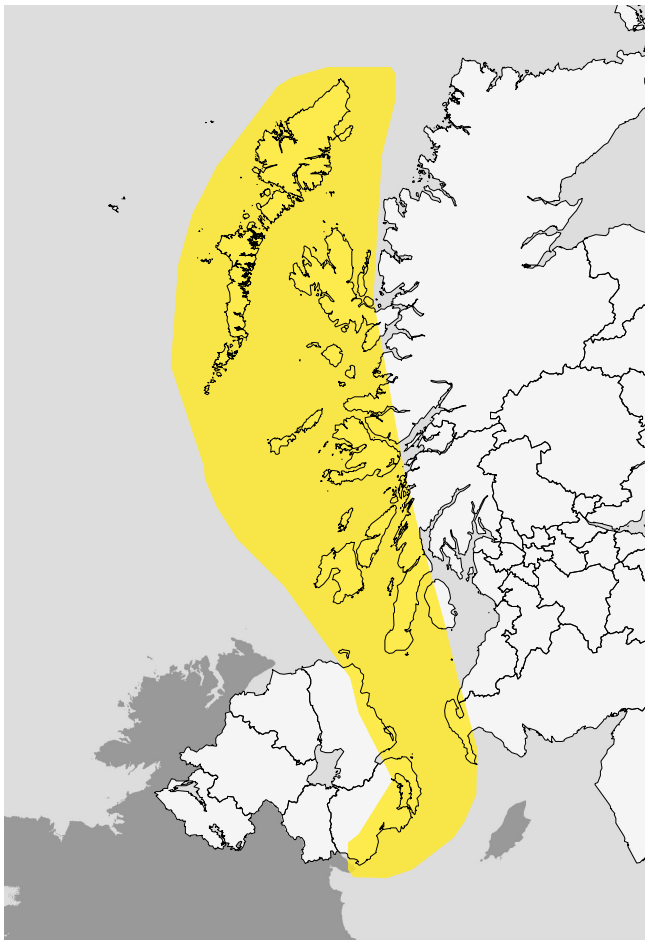
Yellow warning
Wind

Between
04:00 Sun 14 Feb 2021 and
23:59 Sun 14 Feb 2021



Strong winds are likely to lead to some travel disruption, and impacts from large waves for some coastal locations and causeways.

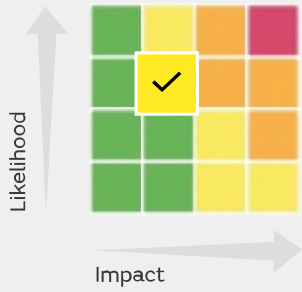
What to expect

- Some delays to road, rail, air and ferry transport are likely
- Delays for high-sided vehicles on exposed routes and bridges likely
- It's likely that some coastal routes, sea fronts and coastal communities affected by spray and/or large waves

Further details

South-easterly winds will strengthen a little further during Sunday morning, with gusts of 60 to very locally 70 mph probably developing across the Irish Sea, and into the east of Northern Ireland. This, in combination with high tides, may be enough to generate impacts from large waves in some coastal parts of Antrim and Down.

Similar wind strengths are likely across parts of the Inner and Outer Hebrides; although here later the gusts could strengthen further still to 65-75 mph, and possibly as high as 80 mph in the most exposed parts of the Outer Hebrides.



Medium likelihood of low impacts
